INTRODUCTION

2007 was another highly successful year for the Hawai'i Research Center for Futures Studies. Its cooperative work expanded with other University units--most notably with the School of Travel Industry Management--and with local public and community groups--especially its innovative Futures of Chinatown Project that involved designing and "discovering" "artifacts from the futures". The Center's work, already well underway for various units of the governments of the United States, South Korea, and Singapore, also expanded. A presentation for The International Parliamentarians' Association for Information Technology, convened in the Finnish Parliament, Helsinki, Finland, provoked wide interest and discussion.

BACKGROUND OF THE CENTER

The HRCFS was established by the Hawai'i State Legislature in 1971 to collect and disseminate information about futures studies and to conduct futures research for public and private groups within the State, the region, and throughout the world (Chapter 304A-3253).

Locally, the HRCFS is administered by the Department of Political Science of the University of Hawai'i at Manoa. The HRCFS thus works closely with the Alternative Futures Graduate Option in the Department. The Alternative Futures Option, created in 1977, has produced scores of women and men who have gone on to become successful professional futures consultants in many fields, locally, nationally, and worldwide.

One component of the Alternative Futures Option is a paid internship that many students experience with the Institute for Alternative Futures (IAF), in Alexandria, Virginia (one of the oldest and most respected futures consulting firms in the world), with the HRCFS itself, or with some other futures consulting firm. In 2007, students interned in the IAF and in the Long Now Foundation in California.

The HRCFS also cooperates with the Program in Public Administration, the School of Architecture, the School of Travel Industry Management (TIM), and other University units as well as the Asia-Pacific Leadership Program of the East-West Center on funded applied futures-oriented projects in Hawai'i and throughout the Asia-Pacific region. The Center is currently developing a futures of tourism research capability with TIM.

Nationally, the HRCFS is a major futures resource. The HRCFS was responsible, with IAF, for the concept and development of "judicial foresight"--incorporating futures studies into judicial administrative decision-making. This began with work done by the HRCFS with the Hawai'i State Judiciary from the 1970s onward. Subsequently, the HRCFS has engaged in judicial foresight activities indirectly with all, and directly with ten, other U.S. state judiciaries, as well as with the U. S. federal judiciary, many national and state bar associations, and with several foreign judiciaries and law-related entities, primarily in the Asia-Pacific. In 2007, the Center consulted with or ran workshops for the Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts, the National Center for State Courts (Williamsburg, Virginia), the Justice Policy Group of the Judiciary of Singapore, the Senior Management Team of the Hawaii State Judiciary, and the Annual Convention of the Hawaii State Bar Association. The State Justice Institute, a U.S. federal agency for state judiciaries, made the category "Futures and the Courts" one of its major funding categories specifically because of work done with and through the HRCFS and the IAF. The HRCFS has also consulted with many other governmental units, universities, businesses, religious organizations, and nonprofit entities throughout North America.

Globally, the World Futures Studies Federation (WFSF), the premier world organization of groups and individuals conducting futures research at a professional level, chose the Center to house the WFSF Secretariat during the 1980s and early 90s, and awarded the HRCFS its highest honor for excellence in futures research in 1994. The Center continues to work closely with the WFSF.

The Center has been an Affiliate Campus of the International Space University (ISU) of Strasbourg, France since 1996. As such, UH faculty and students participate in the Masters in Space Studies (MSS) program at the main campus in Strasbourg and the nine-week Space Session Program (SSP) that is held in different locations around the world (most recently, the University of West Australia, Adelaide; the University of Bremen, Germany; Federico Santa Maria Technical University, Valparaiso, Chile; and Suranaree

University of Technology, Nakhon Ratchasima, Thailand, and Beihang University, Beijing, China. The SSP for Summer 2008 will be in Naples, Italy.

Similarly, selected ISU MSS students come to the Manoa campus for their Internship Program. HRCFS and ISU also cooperate in various research, training and outreach projects. They currently are engaged in jointly writing a multidisciplinary, multicultural textbook on space studies.
